

Ford, Kissinger Eye Cyprus Outbreak

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford summoned Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to an early morning meeting today on the Cyprus crisis. They met in the wake of a renewed outbreak of fighting on the Mediterranean island and the calling of an emergency session of the U.S. Security Council in New York. As he was leaving his Alexandria, Va. home this morning for the White House, Ford told reporters he also had conferred Tuesday night by telephone with Kissinger on the latest developments in Cyprus. The President did not elaborate. It was the new President's first international crisis. On domestic matters, a White House spokesman conceded for the first time that Ford may be growing attached to his new job and Ford served notice that he intends to be his own man in economics as well as politics. White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst relayed the word on Tuesday that there would be a "Ford program" to fight inflation, with the firm imprimatur of the new President. One of Ford's economic proposals was to be revealed today when Budget Director Roy L. Ash appears before the House Banking and Currency Committee to outline recommendations for an anti-inflation agency. Asked if the economic policies that former President Richard M. Nixon had announced only a month ago in a Los Angeles speech were under review and liable to change, terHorst said, "That would be a fair statement." The question came after terHorst reported that Ford had told a private meeting of lowerlevel administration officials that he did not expect to come up with any instant panaceas for the nation's inflation, but "at least there would be a Ford program." Reminded that Ford had the same economic advisers who formulated Nixon policies, terHorst said Ford

"has told them that the country has a new President," who expects to have his own inputs and perhaps come up with some new ideas. "He thinks the country expects it of him," terHorst said. "He thinks he has reason to believe that Congress would cooperate if he can offer programs that make sense on Capitol Hill." TerHorst also let slip another change in Ford ideas when he conceded that Ford's previous "no" to a possible 1976 presidential candidacy is now a "maybe." The press secretary was careful to explain at a news briefing that too much should not be made of Ford's remarks in his Monday night speech to Congress about making "at least" three State of the Union addresses during his presidency. More than three would mean a second term. TerHorst said the comment should be taken in the same spirit as several lighthearted remarks in the speech. But when a reporter followed with the question, "Meaning that ...?" terHorst finished the sentence, "that no decision has been made." It was only a passing slip, but it was a marked departure from the steady insistence since Ford was nominated as vice president last October that he was only interested in serving out the term and not becoming a presidential candidate in his own right two years from now. TerHorst warned against the rash of speculation that Ford already has narrowed the field of vice presidential prospects while he still is receiving suggestions from congressional and other sources. "Unless President Ford indicated it himself, I would hesitate on buying it," terHorst said. The speculation continued to center on former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and GOP Chairman George Bush.

SEOGA SENIORS CAMP—Steve Brudzinski, Circleville High School golf coach, is the new Southeastern Ohio Golf Assn. seniors champion. The 56-year-old Brudzinski matched par both days of the tournament held this year at Pickaway Country Club for a 36 hole total of 142, besting 85 golfers from the nine member clubs of the SEOGA. Details of the tournament are on today's sports page.

Cyprus Talks Collapse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Turkey walked out of the Geneva peace talks and began heavy air and ground attacks on Cyprus today, prompting Greece to announce its withdrawal from military participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The United Nations Security Council met at 3:30 a.m. EDT and in less than 10 minutes unanimously adopted a British resolution calling for a new cease-fire and resumption of the peace talks. On Cyprus, Turkish planes attacked Greek and Greek Cypriot positions in the Nicosia area for nearly an hour. Gunfire erupted all along the so-called Green Line separating Greek and Turkish Cypriot sectors of the capital, and Turkish tanks advanced to the northeast and northwest of the capital. A Greek government communique said because NATO had been unable to "stop Turkey from creating a situation of conflict between two allied countries," Greece was withdrawing its armed forces from the NATO alliance. But it said Greece would remain a member of the political alliance. The action was similar to that taken by the late President Charles de Gaulle of France, but a government spokesman was unable to say whether NATO bases in Greece would be dismantled as they were in France. There was no immediate comment from NATO headquarters in Brussels or from Washington. Turkey and Greece make up the alliance's southern flank. The Geneva talks collapsed when the Turks walked out after Greece and the Greek Cypriots refused to consider the Turkish proposal to form two federal states of Greek and Turkish Cypriots on Cyprus. Britain and Greece proposed a 48-hour cooling off period, but the Turks refused. The British government said the Royal Air Force would start flying home the 14,000 dependents of the troops at the three British bases on Cyprus. Cyprus President Glafcos Clerides, the leader of the Greek Cypriots, appealed to other nations to intervene and told newsmen in Geneva that the Turks are trying to impose "a solution according to their own will."

Turkey said it renewed the attack "to protect the independence of Cyprus and to provide security for the Turkish community on the island." It charged that the Greeks and Greek Cypriots at Geneva showed that they "still considered Cyprus a completely Greek island." Associated Press correspondent Alex Efty reported from Nicosia that one target of the first air attack was the headquarters of the 950-man Greek army contingent near the Nicosia airport. The United Nations Command reported that nine members of the U.N. peace force—five Finns and four Britons — were wounded by the air attacks, but there was no other word of casualties.

Ford Avoids Prosecution Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has signaled his intention to stay out of any decision to prosecute Richard M. Nixon for Watergate crimes. The President indicated that he would leave it up to special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski to decide whether to seek an indictment against the former president, Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said Tuesday after a private meeting with Ford. "He made no statement on it, but I got the feeling that it will just run its course, that he has no intention of intervening one way or the other," Saxbe told reporters. The attorney general said he raised the issue with Ford only briefly during a session scheduled to inform the new President about pending Justice Department matters. "I told him that this was in Mr. Jaworski's area, that it would just have to run its course," the attorney general said as he reaffirmed his own intention to leave Jaworski free to decide the issue. Legal experts familiar with the Watergate investigation say Nixon could face a gamut of criminal charges ranging from obstruction of justice to subornation of perjury for his role in the scandals.

The grand jury that indicted Nixon's one-time advisers on charges of obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up named Nixon as an indicted coconspirator after being told of the doubtful constitutionality of an indictment against a sitting president. Nixon's resignation stripped him of that shield. Jaworski has said nothing about the possibility of charges against Nixon. On the eve of Nixon's resignation, the prosecutor said there was no deal promising Nixon immunity if he quit the presidency. Ford has the constitutional authority to pardon Nixon for any Watergate crimes even before formal charges and a trial. Saxbe said he and Ford did not discuss that possibility. Asked whether Ford is considering pardoning Nixon, White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst said, "I'm not aware that it has come up." He told reporters, "The President is not keeping that question on the top of his priorities for the nation. He feels it's very important that the country move ahead on positive programs."

Saxbe said Jaworski's charter of office clearly assigns the prosecutor the responsibility for deciding whether to prosecute Nixon. Whether or not he is charged with crimes, Nixon faces the prospect of being summoned as a witness in Watergate-related civil and criminal trials. He has been named as a defendant in one lawsuit and could face other civil suits. All of those proceedings could cost Nixon hundreds of thousands of dollars in legal fees, but he can't draw from some $2 million in leftover campaign funds to pay them. The money can't be used to pay legal fees of anyone who was not a campaign official, said two of the three trustees administering the leftover funds.

Military Spending Bills Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate units have voted to reduce military spending proposals despite President Ford's warning against "unwarranted cuts in national defense." Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Tuesday the defense appropriations subcommittee has trimmed $5.59 billion from the Nixon administration request for military spending. Meanwhile, the Foreign Relations Committee approved a foreign aid authorization bill that would phase out over the next three years the main category of military assistance, known as military-grant aid. It also gradually would close down U.S. military aid missions, now in 45 nations including virtually every country in Europe. In his address to a joint session of Congress Monday night, Ford called for "tough decisions to cut the cost of government" but indicated he would resist large slashes in the Pentagon budget. McClellan said the defense spending bill would be considered by the full Appropriations Committee, of which he is chairman, on Friday. "This bill will not please everyone," he told the Senate. "Some would want to cut more, others would like to add to what we have done. But the bill represents our best judgment in today's perspective."

He said the $81.9 billion budget being recommended by the subcommittee is a 5.9 per cent cut from the request of former President Nixon. It is $1.4 billion less than the amount voted by the House. The $2.5 billion foreign aid authorization bill is $775 million, or 22 per cent, below the Nixon administration request. The measure, which now goes to the full Senate, imposes ceilings of $1.28 billion on aid to South Vietnam, $347 million on aid to Cambodia and $100 million on aid to Laos. Last year, $1.57 billion was spent on South Vietnam, $688 million on Cambodia and $127 million on Laos. The bill also wipes out the president's authority to grant arms credit to foreign countries at less than the U.S. government cost of borrowing money. The biggest cut is in direct military aid to foreign countries, which the committee slashed $435 million, making the proposed appropriation $550 million. The rate had been 9 per cent for just more than two months. The increase was twice the government's usual quarter of a percentage point adjustment. Meanwhile, the Senate Tuesday approved a compromise $11.3 billion housing and community development bill that, among other things, authorizes $8.6 billion in block grants for urban renewal, model cities, open spaces and other community development programs over the next three years. The bill also increases from $45,000 to $55,000 the maximum amount of mortgage loans that federally chartered savings and loan associations can approve. It also increases the ceilings for FHA-insured and VA-guaranteed loans on single-family homes from $33,000 to $45,000. The government's decision on the higher interest rate followed two other government reports detailing record interest rates. The first showed that the effective rate on conventional loans—those not insured by the government—increased to 8.97 per cent for new homes in July and 9 per cent for previously occupied homes. The higher interest rates, higher prices and more restrictive terms mean the average cost of buying a new home has increased from a purchase price of $36,700 with $8,400 down and payments of $200 a month in March 1973, when the current surge started, to an average price of $40,700 with $10,500 down and $241 a month in July. The second report indicated interest rates would continue to rise for home buyers, probably to 10 per cent or so over the next four months. The shape of things to come was in the results of the auction of home loan commitments reported by the government's Federal National Mortgage Association. The FNMA, known as Fannie Mae, commits itself periodically to buying a certain number of mortgages over the next four months, selecting from among the lenders who offer the best return.

Several Hurt By Storms In North Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A line of thunderstorms accompanied by strong winds swept over a large area of northern Ohio late Tuesday, but no serious injuries or major damage were reported. A barn was destroyed and three houses and a garage were damaged by lightning in Greater Cleveland. In Parma a 13-year-old girl standing near one of the houses that was struck fell to the ground. She was reported in fair condition at Parma Community General Hospital Tuesday night with head injuries and face cuts. In Oberlin, police said trees and utility lines were blown down in most of the city, blocking several streets, but no injuries were reported there. Oberlin Police Chief Norman Schmidt said the city was sealed off to keep sightseers out until the streets were cleared about three hours later. Schmidt said the roof of the Hydro-Tube Co. plant was badly damaged but there was no serious damage to homes or other buildings. Trees and utility lines were reported down in a four-block area of Norwalk, where the Huron County fair opened Tuesday. The storm knocked out electricity in the grandstand at the fairgrounds but no serious damage was reported. The National Weather Service said a funnel cloud was sighted in Medina County between Chippewa Lake and Spencer but it did not touch down. Injured in Parma was Kathy Kiefer of North Ridgeville. She was standing under a nearby tree when lightning struck a house. A companion, 7-year-old Debra Shaw, also was taken to the hospital but was released after observation. Lightning caused a fire that destroyed a barn in North Royalton. About 60 sheep were killed and some farm machinery was damaged when the burning hayloft collapsed. The damage was estimated at $30,000. Lightning also struck two homes in North Royalton, causing minor damage.

Volunteer Army's Success To Be Told In Coming Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Howard H. Callaway apparently was premature in proclaiming the all-volunteer Army a success. Now he says the coming year will tell. "The fiscal year we are now entering will provide us a most severe test," Callaway told a Senate Armed Services subcommittee on Tuesday. "As the last of the draftees leave the Army, a major exodus which will peak this fall, we will have a significant gap to fill." To do this, Callaway said the Army will have to recruit about 25,000 more men and women this year than last, which was the first full 12 months without draft authority. "... If we can even come close to our goal we will be able to say, once and for all, that an all-volunteer Army is attainable," Callaway said. This was a far cry from his formal statement July 1 that "the volunteer Army proved that it was a success" by ending the 1974 fiscal year slightly over its manpower goal. Actually, Callaway declared the volunteer force a success three separate times in recent weeks. The other two occasions came when he declared an Armywide holiday to celebrate the event and when he appeared at a White House-sponsored news conference in the waning days of the Nixon administration. After the last draftees are discharged, the Army expects less of a turnover in manpower because most volunteers sign up for longer hitches than the two years served by conscripts. Thus, the Army believes it will need fewer volunteers each year after next summer to sustain its strength. "In fiscal year 1976, and for as far out as we can reasonably predict, our needs appear to be well within the recruiting capacity we have already demonstrated," Callaway said. Assuming the Army can attract enough volunteers, its official plan is to stress improved quality in its recruits. Callaway said that, during the next two years, the Army will attempt to increase the number of high school graduates in its enlisted force, decrease the number of lower mentality recruits and achieve a level of about 10 per cent of its enlisted men with at least one year of college behind them.

Storms Hit Plains Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Hail, high winds and heavy rains slashed the central Plains today as part of a band of scattered thunderstorms stretching from Idaho to the Texas Panhandle. The heaviest outbreak of storms centered in northern Kansas. Another pattern of thundershowers extended erratically from eastern Texas and Louisiana into southern New York. Rain also splashed along the southern Florida coast. Dense fog spotted many spots of the northern Atlantic states and from Ohio to South Carolina. Golfball-size hail hit Rosebud, S.D., and Lewistown, Mont., on Tuesday night and winds blew off large tree limbs in Nelson, Neb. But there were fair skies over the upper half of the Mississippi Valley, the Rockies and the Southwest.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market tumbled toward new lows since 1970 today amid uneasiness over the new Cyprus crisis as well as the more familiar worries of inflation and high interest rates.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 12.67 at 743.74—sharply below the virtual four-year closing low of 751.10 it reached Aug. 1. Losers outnumbered gainers 5-1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

President Ford met with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger this morning to consider the renewed fighting on Cyprus.

Western Airlines was the Big Board volume leader, down 3/8 at 8 3/8.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .72 at 77.38.

Gold stocks, in marked contrast to the rest of the market, jumped ahead for the second straight day.

High-priced growth and bluechip issues continued to encounter sharp downward pressure.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .73 at 40.46.

Giant Yellowknife Mines was the Amex volume leader, up 3/8 at 15.

Stability Sought In Justice Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is promising quiet stability for a Justice Department beset for three years with scandal and upheaval.

Ford has asked Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe to continue in office and the two agreed that the department must operate with freedom from political pressures.

Ford seems likely to lean heavily on Saxbe, Deputy Atty. Gen. Laurence Silberman and other Justice Department officials for his administration's crime-fighting strategy as he devotes his greatest attention to economic policy.

Saxbe told reporters after meeting with Ford on Tuesday that he expects no significant changes in departmental policy in the new administration.

He said Ford volunteered the promise "that he's not going to interfere in any manner—nor any of his people—with the orderly law enforcement and litigating activities of the Justice Department."

Saxbe said he told the President at a Cabinet meeting Saturday that "I felt that over the last several administrations, there has been a growing inclination for the Department of Justice to become involved in politics and that I felt it was not desirable."

Ford agreed, Saxbe said.

Saxbe was nominated by Nixon and sworn in last January.

He succeeded Elliot L. Richardson who, in his five months of office, presided over the prosecution of a vice president and acted as an uncomfortable mediator in the Watergate investigation of a president.

Richardson followed two Nixon attorneys general stained by the administration scandals—Richard G. Kleindienst, who pleaded guilty to a criminal charge based on his failure to tell a Senate committee about Nixon's role in the ITT case, and John N. Mitchell, under indictment for his role in the Watergate cover-up.

With the Watergate investigation firmly in the hands of special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, Saxbe is turning the department's attention to nuts-and-bolts issues.

New First Family Moving To 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — This is packing day for the Fords of Crown View Drive. The new tenants of 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. hope to move in Monday.

"It's very beautiful and in excellent condition," observed First Lady Betty Ford after inspecting the 132-room executive mansion Tuesday. "I'm thrilled to death."

Although Mrs. Ford said she is looking forward to moving across the Potomac River, she made it clear right off that "I really don't consider it my house—I consider it the house of the people."

Her husband, President Ford, plans to be out of town moving day, addressing the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago.

Reporters noted that Ford is a predawn riser and often fixes his own breakfast. That might not change, Mrs. Ford hinted: "All he needs is a toaster."

Broached about her views that President Ford was thinking about appointing a woman for vice president, Mrs. Ford replied that it was a fine idea.

"It would be very nice. I think it's time that women step up and take their place," she said. Nevertheless, she said her husband has not discussed with her who will be his choice for No.

2. The First Lady, appearing in a bright green dress for her first full-fledged news conference at the Pennsylvania Avenue address, hedged on whether she called herself a women's liberation advocate.

"... Certainly on equal rights and equal pay," she said finally.

Replying to another question at the outdoor interview, Mrs. Ford says she favors abolishing the church ban that prohibits women from becoming priests in the Episcopal church. The Fords are parishoners of the Episcopal Immanuel Church on the Hill in Alexandria. The parish has a woman deacon, the Rev. Patricia Park, who has been fighting against the ban on women priests.

As First Lady, Mrs. Ford says she plans to keep up her active volunteer work in the arts and with retarded children.

The Fords do not plan to sell their modest brick home in Alexandria, where they have lived for almost 20 years.

Mrs. Ford says she doesn't plan to redecorate the White House but "there are some very minor changes" that might be made.

For example, she said, daughter Susan might want to redecorate her bedroom to fit her 17-year-old tastes.

Turks Gaining In Battles

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish tanks and infantry broke through Greek Cypriot lines east and west of Nicosia today behind heavy air strikes and rolling artillery and mortar barrages.

As huge columns of smoke rose from devastated homes, factories and military installations on both sides of the Greek Cypriot capital, the Greeks began falling back, taking anti-aircraft batteries with them.

The Greek radio claimed three Turkish planes had been shot down, but air attacks that began at 4:35 a.m. continued through the morning at various points across the northern part of the island.

The Turkish Cypriot radio reported "the Turkish peacekeeping forces are advancing very rapidly and have broken through several Greek defense lines. Turkish tanks and infantry are advancing very rapidly."

The Greeks denied the claims. But Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett watched from the old Famagusta road east of Nicosia as Greek forces pulled back from a blazing seven-mile front line along the new Famagusta road.

"Don't go ahead; the Turks are shooting everything," an officer warned as he consolidated his men and guns around Nicosia.

Later Turkish tanks swung through outlying fields to the south and southwest of the capital in an effort to reach the Greek Cypriot military headquarters and the Cyprus government radio station there.

Other reports said the Turks had advanced 400 yards beyond the so-called Green Line dividing the Greek and Turkish quarters of Nicosia and had enveloped the British high commissioner's office, but heavy fighting was reported continuing there.

A United Nations peace force spokesman told newsmen nine U.N. soldiers—five Finns and four Britons—were wounded in the first air strikes.

He said the Finns were wounded at Nicosia airport and the British soldiers were hit near the village of Skylloura, 14 miles northwest of Nicosia.

The Turkish jets pounded the Nicosia area for about an hour, beginning soon after Turkey walked out of the Geneva peace conference on Cyprus.

Simultaneously, artillery, machinegun and small arms fire erupted along the so-called Green Line, which divides the heavily fortified Greek and Turkish sectors of Nicosia.

A column of Turkish tanks rumbled down the Famagusta road, northeast of the capital, toward the Greek Cypriot town of Kythrea 18 miles away and the adjacent Turkish Cypriot enclave of Chottos-Knadhara.

Finnish U.N. troops manning a post outside Mia Milea abandoned it as the tanks advanced.

One of the targets of the Turkish Super Sabre jet fighters was the camp of the 950-man Greek army contingent on the northwestern side of Nicosia.

Newsman watched a series of strikes against this camp, one mile from the Nicosia international airport.

It was apparently a bomb from one of these strikes that hit the headquarters of the Finnish contingent within the airport area and wounded the Finnish soldiers.

Two hours after the initial air strikes, artillery shells were still bursting around the Greek camp area, and the smoke of artillery barrages was visible along the horizon in the direction of Skylloura.

Firemen Dispatched To Rest Home

An early morning call today to the fire department came from Circleville Manor but was only an overheated electrical system. An automatic alarm system connected to the rest home sounds in the fire department when a problem arises.

The relay for the auxiliary generator became overheated and caused the alarm system to kick off at 6:40 a.m. Firemen dispatched to the home and reset the system.

Four people reported vandalism of their automobiles to Circleville police.

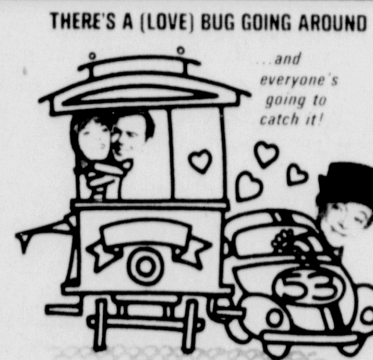

Richard Valentine, 232 E. Main St., told police that the left rear window of his car was broken out.

Donald Giffen, 18, Route 1, Stoutsville, said that vandals broke the rear window of his station wagon which was parked in front of Haley's Bar.

The radio antenna on a car owned by Carl Thomas, 129 Park St., was broken off by vandals, according to police.

Earl Ford, 109 Pontious Lane, told police that vandals put wax and paint on the windows of his car which was parked in front of his house.

A Page Of Opinion

Forecasters Subdued

Until the last year or two forecasting had become a favorite management tool in both industry and government. Computerized data made the task easier and, many believed, more precise.

Simply match the components as they exist today in the economy or business picture with similar data from the past, and presto, an accurate forecast is possible.

As do many other theories, this one may work most of the time but it is not working now. Economic forecasting has been off by too wide a margin for more than a year. Inflation is perhaps the key indicator which has been missed by a mile by predictions time and again.

No one in authority had predicted a double digit rate of inflation before it arrived, and then many economic authorities were saying it would soon go away. Now they are less sure.

It is interesting that many of those same individuals are forecasting more sparsely these days and then only in the most general terms.

What has happened to the forecasting business is not all bad. It was easy to succumb to the temptation that a Crystal ball was better than taking effective action. But there is little historic precedent for the major changes which have combined to produce the current economic situation.

Among them are universal inflation, shortages of basic commodities, near-monopolistic situations which are developed in some important commodities, and a large flow of short-term capital between countries. To sum up, the current situation is unique.

Under these circumstances it might be more productive to devote efforts to solving some of the more urgent problems rather than attempt to put together a patchwork of suppositions and experience for forecasting purposes.

Sic Transit, Gloria

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—By this time, we all must have heard 10,000 comments on the departure "until we meet again" of Richard Nixon. The one I'm going to remember is the wonderful non sequitur of our friend and housekeeper, Gloria.

"The shoulda left him keep his job," Gloria said. "Nobody's perfect."

Not much doubt that President Ford is the best athlete ever to make his way to the White House. He was a good lineman at Michigan, good ballplayer, and knows his way around a golf course and tennis court. As a member of Congress Marching and Chowder Club, he had done more marching than chowdering. Did some boxing as a younger man, too. Which gives him a margin over his predecessor: He'll know how to roll with the punches.

In his understandably emotional farewell to his tearful troops, Nixon said none of the staff ever profited at the expense of the public till. He added with a wistful smile that he wished he were a wealthy man, so that he could compensate them for their long and devoted services... but he had to pay his taxes. Then he flew off to his $1,200,000 place at San Clemente.

Susan Ford, 16, has had Secret Service guards for six months. Her father resisted this protection very strongly when it was first offered. He felt it would hamper the girl's schooling, social life, and freedom. He changed his mind abruptly when he was informed that Susan's name was on the Symbionese Liberation Army list as a kidnap target — right up there with Patricia Hearst.

Nixon broke millions of hearts with his farewell remarks, including, from time to time, his own. But as he stepped into Air Force I for the last time as President, he gave the triumphant appearance of his days on the campaign trails and his departures from once-hostile capitals where he had reached historic accords. He thrusted at the cameras the old V-for-Victory sign, with arms held high and his pearly smiling in the TV lights. It was an emphatic exit, as if his troubles were over, ever more. Alas, they are not.

Ford's acceptance remarks could have been written by Lincoln. If he continues in that vein, there is no telling how popular he will become, until the traditional honeymoon ends. "May our former President who brought peace to millions find it for himself," he said at the end. That ranks with Abe's "With malice toward none; with charity toward all." (Second Inaugural Speech.)

Nixon has been urged to appear before both houses of Congress and make what the proposer suggested would be a "clean breast" speech about his role in all the facets of Watergate, the milk, ITT, Howard Hughes, and Dr. Lewis Fielding capers. If he does, he should demand 50 per cent of the television commercial profits, plus immunity.

Ford would have given up his seat in the House in 1976. He had promised his wife he would close out his quarter of a century of Congressional service and go into the practice of law, where he could make some real money for a change. So they agreed that he'd retake his seat in '74 and call it quits two years later. Suddenly...

Nixon made a kind of poverty plea before he shuffled off to San Clemente. The day before that happened, I talked to a top official of a $2 billion-a-year business whose chairman has been Nixon's close friend for years. "We'd take him in a minute," the man said. "So would any of a dozen more big corporations. He won't have to worry about where the rent's coming from. Any publisher would give him a million-dollar advance against royalties." Makes his $60,000 a year pension, $30,000 a year expenses, lifetime Secret Service protection, an office, a staff, and government transportation, sound like peanuts.

Ford, who has been frequently compared to Harry S. — both catapulted into the White House without much know-how — may have some difficulty explaining their real names. Little-known for his middle name, said that the "S" stood for nothing. He had just added it in earlier years to class up his calling cards. Gerald Rudolph Ford has for many years been referred to in the public prints as "Jerry," not "Gerry." Perhaps he's been trying to duck a charge of gerrymandering.

He asked for prayers for both of them, Ford and Nixon. Okay, I'll buy that.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — President Gerald Ford took what is widely viewed as tough, firm action in criticizing General Motors for raising its prices roughly 10 per cent. But firm as it was, it was too weak.

Jawboning, while probably of some value in restraining price increases, simply cannot overwhelm the facts, and the underlying fact, according to GM, is that expenses have been rising, necessitating higher prices.

Neither can jawboning invalidate the rules of economics. In wishing that other automotive manufacturers decline to follow GM's example, the President may, in effect, be asking them to accept smaller returns on investments and sales.

For any company willingly to accept such a situation is to commit a breach of faith with stockholders, risk a decline in its ability to attract capital with which to stay alive, and otherwise endanger its competitive position.

But, with inflation threatening to become even worse, the President probably had little choice but to speak out. He could do little else, even though he has declared inflation to be the nation's primary problem.

The next moves, since the President probably has no others at the time, appear to be left up to the automotive companies.

GM can resist, or it can cut back its increases, for which it conceivably made an allowance. The other manufacturers can raise their prices by 10 per cent also, or they can scale them down.

The most unlikely course, however, would be for GM to rescind its increase and for Chrysler, in the national interest, to forego any price changes they might have considered.

This still would leave Ford, which announced several weeks ago that average retail prices would rise more than $400 over 1974 models, also to consider whether it would retain or rescind its increases.

For these events to occur there would have to be a total commitment to the President's ability to turn back the tide of inflation.

When increases like GM's are announced, it is all but impossible for the administration quickly to ascertain if they are justified. Without any automatic probing machinery, it can only jawbone with dubious effect.

It is for this reason the President has accepted a Democratic proposal for a summit conference on the economy and other domestic affairs, and for legislation to create a new Cost of Living Council.

Armed with facts, he can counter the moves of big business and big labor, which always are armed with batteries of statistics "proving" their case. Without similar ammunition, the President's pleas are relatively ineffective.

Big Year In Packaging

NEW YORK (AP) — Although predictions indicate 1974 will be remembered as the year of "shortage," the packaging industry is looking forward to better dollar-volume sales, says Modern Packaging.

The magazine says the apparent discrepancy will be due in large part to inflation. The McGraw-Hill Publications Department of Economics predicts gross national product will climb 8.2 per cent in 1974 and consumer spending will rise 7.8 per cent over 1973.

Modern Packaging predicts sales in packaging material and containers will exceed the 1974 figure of $23 billion by 8 per cent.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it possible for a doctor to determine that a person has "mono" just from looking at the throat?

Miss F. F. B., N.C.

Der Miss B.:

The presence of a red, angry throat and enlarged glands of the neck, and the history of the condition may make a doctor suspect mononucleosis.

This disorder can be verified only by a special heterophile study of the blood. Only when this element is found in the blood is the diagnosis confirmed.

The white blood count in patients with mononucleosis has special characteristics. Sometimes it is necessary to do repeated blood studies before the heterophile becomes positive.

After a simple appendectomy my son had an embolus in the lung which kept him in the hospital for many weeks. Could this have been prevented?

Mrs. G. S., Ohio

Dear Mrs. S.:

First let me say that no abdominal operation could ever be called "simple."

The combination of surgery and anesthesia and the limitation of motion after the operation may all play a factor in the rare occurrence of an embolus.

An embolus is a small piece of clot that breaks away from the inside of a vein or an artery. It then travels through the blood stream and lodges in the lungs and thus complicates the surgery and interferes with the convalescence.

Much is known about the recognition and the treatment of an embolus, but all the reasons why they occur are not clearly defined.

Prevention of this rare occurrence is difficult. Surgeons make an effort to see that their patients are out of bed as quickly as possible after an operation to avoid unusual clotting of the blood and the possibility of an embolus.

Patients who are known to have unusual heart conditions or existing blood clots in the vessels are given blood-thinning drugs to further reduce the frequency of this problem.

Scotch Is Scottish

By JIM BISHOP

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND — This is a dismal city of blackened stone, a cold oven for building ships and making whisky. There are endless rows of sooted workmen's flats which, one presumes, created sots of Scots. When a Britisher asks for "whisky and soda" (without the "e"), he means Scotch.

When I asked for an interview with Adam Berguis, president of Teacher's Highland Cream, I discounted the chances of getting a story because all of the people I have met who manufacture wines or brandies or liquors are of family dynasties and discuss their product as though it were a living thing.

Mr. Berguis is different. He is almost shamefully handsome with elfin brown eyes and a slash of wavy white hair, and is one who carefully chooses the battlefield and the weapons.

Kelly and I found ourselves not in Teacher's executive offices, but in a private room in an exclusive club on a square. As allies he brought with him Ronald Anderson, sales manager, and George Teacher Dunlop, general manager.

The time was one p.m. Big glittering windows stared out at the old Scottish buildings, the distant spires, the slow slide of the Clyde to the sea. Silent servants brought tableware to the big white table. The Teacher's gentlemen were more interested in drinking it than talking about it.

It is pale, potent and smoky, smooth enough to build a rock wall in my head if I stayed with Berguis, Anderson and Dunlop. I asked if Teacher's was one of the Scotch's Ambassador Joseph Kennedy grabbed when the repeal of Prohibition was imminent in the United States.

"Not a chance," said Mr. Berguis. The smile, in middle age, is almost boyish. I asked why so many English statesmen are caught in the wrong beds. "How awful if they were caught in the right ones," he said. "They would have been less human than we thought."

He said that British inflation is so much out of control that he subscribed to the Financial London Times, not to read about doomsday, but to study the theater reviews.

Berguis is a sailor who, like my friend Mr. Phillip Cheney of Fort Lauderdale, enjoys racing lean sloops with tall canvas. Lunch was sumptuous. The assortment of wines made the scions of the ancient Teacher family appear like traitors.

Mrs. Berguis is a tall gracious lady who takes flying lessons. Her eyes are on her husband; the fork feels for food. He looked out and saw the gray sky. "Please love," he said, "when you fly this afternoon try to keep away from that cloud with the stone in the middle."

They have five children, which may be why she took up aviation. He refused to be drawn into boasting about Teacher's Scotch. "It is so old, so historic," he says, "that the only way I can get my picture on the wall of the boardroom is to die."

We spoke of the enormous stocks aging in warehouses. They, of course, are the riches of all of these companies — those old silent casks lying in endless rows in damp warehouses, each with a white chalk date on it. "In the whisky business, you think 25 years ahead. Sometimes, a hundred years."

"Scotch whisky," he said, breaking a Dover sole which looked better dead than alive, "is any spirits made in Scotland. Water is not H₂O. Scotch cannot be truly imitated elsewhere because only in Caledonia does spring water rise and filter through red granite and flow through peat moss.

"We hang scientists," he says. Malt barley dries over burning peat. After two distillations, the product is so harsh that the Scots call it "Plain British Spirits."

"All of our white oak casks come from Birmingham, Alabama." "Where?" "Yes, America. The oak staves not only mellow and color the whisky, they drink some of it and cut the proof from 126 to 102. Eventually, it is cut by pure water, at age 12, to 86 proof."

He seemed disinterested in discussing the technicalities of Scotch, except to state that the English, in 1740, tried to suppress everything Scottish including the wearing of kilts and, worse, the distilling of whisky. This drove the Highlanders into the hills where the only combustible was peat moss.

This led to the smokey flavor. I offered Mr. Berguis one of my low-tar, low-nicotine cigarettes. He lit it, puffed and grinned. "A good way of quitting smoking," he said. His finger was near the lit end. "Don't burn yourself," I said. He stubbed it out. "Frankly, he said, 'I don't think I could.'"

Teachers Beat The System

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)— Two married teachers found a way to improve their financial situation. One of them, alternating each month, becomes "sick" for about 10 days and the other replaces him or her in addition to his regular work, getting paid for extra work, the Belgrade "Vecernje Novosti" (Evening News) reported.

OUTDOOR COOKING

Outdoor cooking conjures up images of fresh air, hearty appetites and casual mealtimes. Maybe most of your outdoor cooking has been in your backyard but it is also just as easy to have a tailgate party, using one or two hibachis. Or perhaps breakfast in the park with Canadian bacon sandwiches that need only to be heated. A patio brunch or a boating excursion or a camping trip are all good times made even better by cooking outdoors.

However, the good flavor of barbequing is going indoors more frequently too. Fireplaces, indoor grills, or outdoor grills placed in a well ventilated garage make barbequing a year-round pleasure.

Whether you are cooking on a charcoal grill, a gas grill, a camp stove, a hibachi, an open fire or a kettle cooker, we suggest you consider expanding your menu planning to include vegetables, breads, desserts and appetizers prepared on a barbecue, as well as the meat dish. Use special caution to prevent spoilage if marinating meat at room temperature during hot weather.

A Look At Nixon's Financial Fortunes

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his White House years, Richard M. Nixon won millionaire status — then lost it in blazing controversy over his personal finances.

National debate over the President and his money rose to such a crescendo that in November 1973 Nixon felt compelled to declare: "I am not a crook."

Nixon took office in 1969 with a reported net worth of about $300,000. Barely four years later, his stated net worth stood at a shade under $1 million and rising.

The increase was due mainly to eyebrow-raising land deals involving wealthy friends and a series of tax calculations that allowed him to initially pay less than $1,000 in federal income taxes in each of 1970 and 1971.

The land and tax deals raised such a furor that Nixon, in a gamble he hoped would quiet the questions, made public his tax returns for 1969-1973 and asked a congressional committee to decide if he paid enough taxes. But even the day before he did this, the Internal Revenue Service informed the Nixons it was reauditing their returns.

The congressional gamble failed. On April 3, 1974, the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation announced it had found Nixon owed $444,022 in back taxes, plus interest.

The same day, the White House disclosed that IRS concluded the President owed $432,787 plus interest. The assessment included a penalty for negligence.

The President promptly announced he would pay the IRS amount even though it would cut his net worth by nearly half.

He hadn't filed state returns even though he claimed San Clemente as his principal residence.

The controversy over Nixon's personal finances was a longrunning, multifaceted drama. The major elements:

—Claims for huge tax deductions for donation of his prepresidential papers to the government and for a long list of business expenses subsequently challenged.

—Secret sale of part of his San Clemente property to millionaire friends Robert Abplanalp and C.G. (Bebe) Rebozo at a $100,000 profit without reporting a capital gain.

—Improvements on his personal property in San Clemente and Key Biscayne, Fla., paid for by the federal government. Often ordered in the name of security, investigators later concluded some of the work enhanced the value of the property.

Soon after his election in 1968, Nixon purchased for more than $250,000 two adjacent homes on the beach at Key Biscayne, across the bay from Miami, as a vacation retreat. They were enclosed in a compound with three other houses, two owned by Rebozo and Abplanalp.

In 1969, aided by an unsecured $450,000 loan from Abplanalp, Nixon made a $400,000 down payment on the $1.4 million ocean front San Clemente estate.

At about the same time, he was taking refuge in a major tax shelter later knocked out by the IRS and the congressional committee — a deduction of $482,000 spread over four years for his gift of prepresidential papers to the National Archives.

Investigators questioned the validity of a back-dated deed involved in the transaction. They said the White House failed to prove Nixon's intent to make such a large gift before July 25, 1969, a deadline Congress had set for getting any tax advantage from such gifts.

The congressional committee also disallowed more than $100,000 in claimed deductions for business expenses and official functions. These included more than $50,000 for operating expenses at San Clemente and Key Biscayne, plus such items as $22.50 to clean Mrs. Nixon's bathroom rug and $5,391 for Tricia Nixon's masked ball social extravaganza in 1969.

Tax authorities also said Nixon should have reported a profit he made when he sold much of his San Clemente acreage to his millionaire friends.

That deal was made in late 1970 but kept secret until mid-1973. A California newspaper reported Senate investigators were looking into the possibility that left-over campaign funds had been used to help with the original San Clemente purchase.

That charge was never proven, but it prompted the White House to disclose the Abplanalp-Rebozo purchase from Nixon. And it led to other disclosures on the extent of government-financed improvements on Nixon's California and Florida property.

Subsequently, a congressional subcommittee reported that more than $17 million had been spent by the government on facilities, operations and maintenance associated with Nixon's homes and the Western White House complex constructed on Coast Guard property adjacent to his San Clemente estate.

Investigators said $90,000 of the work should have been treated as taxable income by the President because it benefited him personally. Among the items: $12,988 for a new furnace, $1,600 for shuffleboard court and $388 for an exhaust fan.

The financial impact of the adverse decisions plagued Nixon. He promptly paid $284,706 of the back tax and penalty bill, covering the years 1970-72. But this amount constituted the value of most of Nixon's easily cashable assets.

By midsummer 1974, when Nixon still owed $148,081 he had agreed to pay for his 1969 tax bill, the White House said the President would be unable to make on time a $243,000 mortgage payment for his San Clemente home. The mortgage holders agreed to wait.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Should She Resist An Officer?

DEAR ABBY: While I was driving my car, a traffic officer suddenly appeared, and signaled for me to pull over. I promptly obeyed and asked him what I had done wrong.

He asked me to get out of the car, and when I did, he looked me over-but good. Then he asked me for my driver's license, which I gave him. Meanwhile, I was trembling like a leaf.

I noticed that he made a note of my name and address. Then he said "You were exceeding the 35 mile-per-hour speed limit-but if you let me see you when I'm off duty, I'll call this a 'warning'." Then he smiled and told me his first name.

Abby, I was NOT going over the speed limit, and I was angry because he tricked me into stopping. Besides, I have a boyfriend and I'm not interested in seeing anyone else, but I didn't want a ticket so I said, "Okay."

Now, what if he calls me?

BLONDIE

DEAR BLONDIE: Tell him if he wants to charge you with "resisting an officer" to go ahead, because he's not all that irresistible.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, you had something in your column about people who have a misdemeanor on their record and how to get it removed.

At the age 18, I was wrongly accused of being an accomplice to a minor shoplifting offense. (Ten dollars.) Being very much upset by the whole thing I didn't fight the charge. I just went to court, paid the fine and it was put on my record.

I am now 21 married and want to apply for employment, but the previous job (where the shoplifting incident took place) was the only one I've ever had, so I wonder if you can help me.

I don't think a person should be penalized the rest of his life for one minor mistake at an early age.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BE: If you have been in no legal difficulty for a year following the incident go to the Probation Department and inquire about the possibility on "sealing" your records.

Once they are sealed, it is as though they never existed and you may apply for a job without mentioning the fact that at one time you had this on your record. Good Luck.

DEAR ABBY: Was I ever glad to see that letter in your column from "Foolish Question," whose mother kept insisting that she felt pain in her leg-which had been amputated.

It was not a foolish question, and I am glad you didn't tell her she was "nutty" as so many call me when I tell them that my toes itch when, indeed, I have no toes.

I had my leg amputated below the knee, and one day when I was all alone sitting on my bed, the stump started jumping up and down on the bed. I couldn't even hold it still with my hands!

By the time the doctor arrived, it had stop jumping, but he explained that nature, which is a wonderful thing, was "rebellin'." There should be more nerves in my leg than I had, and nature was letting me know it.

You did a lot of amputees a big favor by printing that letter. Now, when we tell people that some part of our anatomy that isn't there is itching or throbbing or giving us pain, they won't look at us like we're loony.

8 Climbers Perish In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — Eight Soviet women mountain climbers have died in the Pamir mountains after an "unexpected hurricane of tremendous force destroyed their tents and swept away all their things, leaving the girls without warm clothes," Tass said today.

It was the worst death toll on the Lenin peak in 45 years, the official news agency quoted an investigating commission as saying.

Tass said the eight reached the 23,400-foot Lenin Peak on Aug. 5, but that night the weather got worse and they descended to a camp at 20,850 feet.

It said the hurricane struck at 2 a.m., and rescue teams of Soviet, Japanese and American mountain climbers were dispatched. But "in the conditions of almost zero visibility and a gale-force wind the rescuers could not contact the climbers in distress," Tass said.

The New York Times, in a Moscow-dated story, said the frozen bodies of seven women climbers were found Thursday just below the summit of Russia's third highest mountain by a team of Japanese and American climbers.

The body of the eighth woman was not found, but she was believed to have been swept off the mountain by high winds.

Below the Soviet women, the six Japanese and three American climbers dug in and waited out the blizzard, the Times said.

Hong Kong Buys Many Farm Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The small British crown colony of Hong Kong is developing into a major market for U.S. farmers and holds promise for further gains in the future, says the Agriculture Department.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, Hong Kong bought $204.6 million worth of U.S. agricultural products, more than double the value in 1972-73, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said Monday.

Overall, Hong Kong increased its imports of farm commodities last year by one-half, ranking second only to Japan as an Asian market for agricultural products, the agency said in a report.

Cotton, rice and wheat were leading gainers among U.S. commodities sold to Hong Kong, the report said. Hong Kong's area is a little more than 400 square miles and includes about 4.3 million people, 98 per cent of whom are Chinese.

"Rapid population gains and industrialization have created new demands for imported foods, since Hong Kong imports over 80 per cent of its food supply and all of the agricultural raw materials used by its factories," the report said.

Sue Ellen Kaiser Is Bride Of Jose Garcia

MR. AND MRS. JOSE E. GARCIA

Miss Sue Ellen Kaiser and Mr. Jose E. Garcia were united in marriage on July 20 in the Immaculate Conception Church. Father Paul Enke officiated the 11 a.m. service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Kaiser, Route 3 and the son of Mrs. Andrea Garcia. Mr. Garcia is the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. James Grimm, Columbus.

The couple recited their vows in a double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with vases of carnations, daisies and glads.

The church organist presented an half hour of nuptial music prior to the services.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding day, a full length gown of white satin trimmed in Venice lace. The gown was styled with a princess neckline and empire waist and featured long sheer sleeves.

An elbow length veil fell from a lace and pearl cap. She carried a cascade of yellow roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Karen Strickland, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of floral acetate with pale orange and yellow predominating and carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies. The gown was styled with a white collar, a shirred bodice and long sleeves.

Misses Patricia and Mary Ann Grimm, foster sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns identical to that of the honor attendant and also carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies.

Miss Shani Strickland and Master Lee Strickland of Ringold, Ga. were flower girl and ring bearer. They are cousins of the bride.

Mr. James Grimm performed the duties of best man for his foster brother. Guests were ushered to their seats by Mr. Thomas Davis of Columbus and Mr. Alex Alvarez of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Alvarez is a cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a green street length dress with white accessories. Her corsage was made of yellow roses.

In a pink street length dress with white accessories, the bridegroom's mother wore a corsage of red and white carnations.

A buffet dinner at the Neil House in Columbus followed the ceremony. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of white carnations, daisies and glads.

Hostesses Mrs. Leonard Rinehart, Mrs. William Davis and Miss September Young presided at the bride's table featuring the wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and white carnations.

The bride wore a red and white dotted swiss jacket dress for a honeymoon to Virginia Beach. Following the wedding trip, the couple will reside in Columbus.

A graduate of Logan Elm High School, the bride is employed by the Lazarus Company. The groom is a graduate of Central High School and is employed by the Varela Company in the Lazarus building.

Out-of-town guests came from Ringold, Ga.; Chillicothe; Waverly; Sandusky and Hartford, Conn.

Milton Tootles Celebrate 28th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Tootle of Route 5, Circleville, entertained at a family get-together in their home Saturday evening.

The occasion was the observance of their 28th wedding anniversary and Mr. Tootle's 49th birthday.

The couple was married Aug. 9, 1946, in the Methodist parsonage in Circleville by the Rev. Clarence Swearingin.

They are the parents of two children, Harold of the home, and Mrs. John (Cathie) Elliott of North Manchester, Indiana.

Present to enjoy cake, ice cream, and punch were: Harold Tootle, Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace, Miss Jessie Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wood and children Ellen, Paul Jr., and Forrest; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McFarland; Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Conley and children Carmie and Mat; and Mr. and Mrs. James Starkey and daughter Shauna.

Monrovia Garden Club Holds Meeting

The Monrovia Garden Club met Monday evening in the Five Points United Methodist Social Room for their regular meeting. The president, Mrs. Fran Follrod, opened the meeting with devotions by Laura Henry. She used the 67th Psalm for her scripture and gave a reading "Freedom is Life in the Spirit."

Laura Long, secretary, called the roll with 18 members answering with "The line arrangement I like best" followed with the minutes of the last meeting. A correspondence was read from Marian's Flowers announcing some new plants she has for sale.

Mrs. Vonna Rasor reported on the picnic and therapy program held at Orient State School last month. There were about 70 patients who enjoyed the picnic and song fest.

After a lengthy discussion on the flower beds project of the club at the Circleville fairgrounds it was decided to ask the Brooks Yates School children to weed the beds.

The flower show committee reported on the Flower Show to be held on Sept. 9 and other garden clubs are asked to participate.

Mrs. Ruby Smith completed plans for Gardener's Day Out, Sept. 12, at Dayton and members are to meet the bus at Harrisburg at 8 a.m. Reservations are to be in by Sept. 6 to Mrs. Paul Isenhardt, Kettering. Mrs. Russell Beckett, reported on the State Convention which she attended in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Martha Huston was guest speaker and demonstrator and made several beautiful arrangements. She showed flowers from her lovely garden and explained how to use them to the best advantage in arrangements.

At the close of the meeting a tempting salad course was served by Dorothy Michel, Rosemary Drummond, Helen Armentrout and Betty Long.

The next meeting will feature our flower show "Beauty Blooms in Fall" and will be an open meeting, open to clubs in the Council of Pickaway County Garden Clubs. Mrs. Allen L. Grossman of Grove City will be judge of the show and the program committee will be hosts. Each member is asked to bring at least one arrangement to the show. Mrs. Allen Follrod and Miss Saralie Grabill will exhibit Lawn Care.

Soloqua Garden Club Meets

The August meeting of the Soloqua Garden Club was held Aug. 9 at the Robtown Parish Hall.

Mrs. Clyde Herron presided, and Mrs. Dorothy Taes read the scripture and prayer.

Twelve members were present. Guests were Mrs. Delano Younk of Ashville and Mrs. Frank Noggle of Route 2, Ashville. Mrs. Austin Hoover was welcomed as a new member.

One birthday for the month of August was Mrs. Bernard Savey.

She was congratulated for her entries and winnings at the Pickaway County Fair, as was Mrs. Grace Stout in specimens, vegetables, and baked goods.

Miss Mary Shortridge thanked the club for flowers she received while in the hospital.

Plans were made for the Ashville Sidewalk Sale Aug. 21. Members are asked to contact Mrs. Georgia Hott.

Gardeners Day Out, will be held Sept. 6 in Dayton. Next meeting of the club will be Sept. 6 at the Pickaway Arms, 115 E. Mound St., with Mrs. Charles Huston and Mrs. Clyde Herron as hostesses.

Kochensparger Reunion Held At Gold Cliff

The second reunion of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kochensparger was held Sunday, Aug. 4, at Gold Cliff Park with Mrs. William Kochensparger in charge of arrangements for the carry-in picnic.

The families decided to have all reunions the first Sunday in August of each year.

The afternoon was spent visiting. Entertainment for the children was playing baseball.

$126,000 Received From State

COLUMBUS — Since 1971 the Gilligan administration's Comprehensive Criminal Justice Plan has allocated more than $126,000 to Pickaway County as part of its $120 million state-wide crime control program, the Department of Economic and Community Development reported today.

Almost $30 million currently is being distributed throughout the state. Allocations to Pickaway County since 1971 include:

- $39,300 to fund the operation of Community Service Programs;
 - $28,000 for a feasibility study of a possible City-County Justice Center;
 - $22,500 for establishment of an All-County Operations Control Center;
 - $8,500 to increase and enrich probationary services;
 - $7,500 for renovation of the county jail;
 - $4,800 for improved police radio communications equipment in the village of Ashville;
 - $3,400 for minor remodeling of the city of Circleville's law enforcement facilities;
 - $3,300 for new equipment in the Juvenile Division of the Common Pleas Court;
 - $900 for new dictating equipment in the Sheriff's Department; and,
 - $400 for a modern recording system in the county courts.
- Dr. David C. Sweet, development director, commended local officials for their hard work in implementing new programs.

Seatbelt Interlocks Voted Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to eliminate a government requirement that new cars must be equipped with seat-belt interlock systems on this year's models and safety air bags by 1976.

The House acted Monday after congressmen said their constituents are fed up with mechanisms that require drivers to buckle up before they can start their cars.

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., would make both safety features optional rather than mandatory.

Managers of a new car and school bus safety bill, which passed with Wyman's amendment, said the new provision would result in no air bags. They said the bags would have to be mass-produced to carry a realistic price tag, and predicted that elimination of the mandatory regulation would make the bags an unpopular option costing around $700.

The House bill still faces a test in the Senate, where opposition could kill the Wyman amendment. The schedule for Senate action is uncertain.

The amendment would give motorists a choice only of the interlock, at an extra cost, or a seat-belt harness with a dashboard warning light signal if it is not buckled.

GTE Announces Listing Deadline For Amanda Area

The deadline for making changes of listings in the Amanda-Baltimore telephone directory is Aug. 22, General Telephone Co. of Ohio said today.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said customers should report any corrections in their phone listings or change of address planned before November to the company's business office no later than Aug. 22.

Anderson said this would affect any person or business planning to move or install a telephone before the directory is published. "If we know of changes in advance, we can make sure the customer's name, address and correct phone number are listed in the new directory."

The manager said the 1974 directory is being compiled and will be delivered in November.

Other communities listed in the book with Amanda and Baltimore are Bremen, Millersport and Pleasantville.

Progress Reported In Lordstown

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Reporting "some progress" in two key areas, negotiators for General Motors Corp. and United Auto Workers Local 1112 settled into yet another day's bargaining to end a month-old strike.

A GM spokesman, however, said the company is concerned about its schedule for changing over to production of 1975 cars and getting those vehicles into dealer showrooms by Sept. 27.

"The sales people tell me the first two or three weeks of a sales season are the key ones," the spokesman said, "and if the other guy has cars and you're still showing pictures, you're dead."

He said the model changeover for the Vega assembly complex here was scheduled for Monday. The Lordstown plant is to supply cars for the U.S. market east of the Mississippi, he added.

The spokesman said progress was made in Monday's sessions in the areas of grievance settlement and "local demands and contract language."

No UAW spokesman could be reached for comment. The GM spokesman said production at the Vega plant in Canada would be no general help because it is making a sports version.

He also said a Vega plant in the Los Angeles suburb of Southgate is to open production next Monday "so presumably the West Coast dealers will be okay."

Local 1112 struck the GM Lordstown complex July 12. The local represents 7,800 employees.

IRS Hikes Allowances For Mileage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reflecting the higher cost of gasoline, the Internal Revenue Service today announced increases in mileage allowances for the use of automobiles for business, moving and medical purposes.

All the increases are effective for the 1974 tax year.

The IRS said that, effective back to Jan. 1, 1974, it will allow an increase of 3 cents per mile, for a total of 15 cents, for the first 15,000 miles an automobile is used for business purposes.

It said it will allow an increase of one cent per mile, for a total of 10 cents, for each additional mile over 15,000 miles.

Persons using their automobiles for medical and charitable purposes will be allowed an increase of one cent a mile for a total of seven cents. The same increase is allowed for automobiles used in moving.

In addition, the IRS announced an $8 increase, for a total of $44, in the per-diem allowance for employees traveling away from home on business purposes.

The allowances for mileage and travel expenses can be included in deductions a taxpayer claims on his tax return.

Multiple Media Ownership

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newspapers and broadcast outlets owned by the same people in the same community tend to give the public a one-sided view of controversial public affairs, Gov. John J. Gilligan says.

He spelled out his views for Columbus newsmen after taking part in a discussion of the subject at the Midwest Governor's Conference at Minneapolis, Minn.

The governor did not cite examples of such one-sided views.

Gilligan denied that his remarks were aimed at any particular situation in any Ohio city, although several Ohio cities have joint newspaper-broadcast ownerships.

The governor said such arrangements tend to be monopolistic, but added it was "up to the media to do something about it."

"The government is not going to do anything about it and I don't think it should," he said.

Gilligan blamed "certain economic factors, as well as others" for situations in which newspapers and broadcast stations carry through with the same editorial policies and points of view "to the exclusion of others that should be heard."

"The tendency is to create these monopolistic situations so that there is only one voice heard within the community on matters of public policy."

Members of the media, he said, "need to go after each other."

"There seems to be some kind of an unwritten code that says they shouldn't do that," Gilligan said. "But government can't do the job and shouldn't do the job."

The governor said he agreed with Harrison E. Salisbury, recently retired editor and writer for the New York Times, that the revelations of Watergate and other recent government problems already has brought on self-examination by the press and electronic media.

Gilligan said Salisbury predicted that as a result of self-analysis by members of the profession "there is going to be a much better press."

Noise Pollution Grows Steadily

AUSTIN (AP) — "Health officials estimate the over-all loudness of environmental noise is doubling every decade," said a report from the State Department.

The report said the normal person can comfortably tolerate sound levels of 80 decibels, a measure of the strength or pressure of sound.

A quiet residential area may measure 40 decibels and normal speech 60. But a busy office is typically 80, heavy city traffic 100, a discotheque 120, a jet flyover 103, power lawn mower 96, television set 70, clothes washer 78 and a rock band from 108 to 114.

City Schools To Open Sept. 4; Assignments Completed

Fritz F. Jacobs, superintendent, announced today that the Circleville City Schools will open for a full day of school on Sept. 4. Kindergarten classes will report on that date also with the morning session beginning at 8:45 a.m. and the afternoon session at 12:15 p.m.

Staff assignments for the school year have been made and a general teacher's meeting is scheduled for Sept. 3 beginning at 8 a.m. at the high school. An orientation meeting for new staff members has been scheduled for Aug. 30 at the junior high auditorium.

Students new to the district or those who have not yet registered should do so at once. Junior and senior high school students should register at the principal's office in each building. Elementary students must register in the superintendent's office and must be accompanied by a parent. Registration hours are 8 a.m. until noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Board members of the Circleville School District are Dale DeLong, president; Thomas Elsea, vice-president; Robert Liggett; Forrest Brown; Shirley Wiley; Fritz F. Jacobs, superintendent, and Donald E. Metzler, elementary supervisor, head the administrative staff for the city schools.

The following staff assignments for the 1974-75 school year have been made with the extra-curricular assignments included as specified:

Ohio Lottery Tickets Are Selling Fast

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— First-week sales of Ohio lottery tickets could add up to a record for such games anywhere in the U.S., lottery officials said Tuesday.

The first week was extended from seven to 11 days after early ticket sales in some parts of the state forced lottery officials to start official sales last Friday instead of Monday.

A spokesman said a sellout of the entire printing of 13 million tickets was a possibility.

From 7 million to 9 million tickets are expected to be sold by Aug. 20, if residents continue to buy at the present rate, the spokesman said.

About 75 per cent of the tickets printed, or about 5 million to 6 million, are expected to be sold each week, he said.

Sales are limited to 16 million a week since the odds change if that number is exceeded, the spokesman said.

The commission's predictions were based on a random sampling of 40 sales agents across the state. The spokesman said the lottery's consultants, Mathematica Inc., then projected the results of the survey.

Many agents have sold out their allotments and had to go back to their banks for more, he said. Other agents, however, may be having trouble moving their allotments, he cautioned.

The first winners will be determined Aug. 22 in a drawing in Parma.

Cigarette Sales Rise 4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission reported today that 1973 cigarette sales increased 4 per cent over the previous year, the largest jump in 10 years. More significantly, it said, the sale of low-tar cigarettes jumped 40 per cent in the same period.

The FTC said the overall increase, the fifth in a row since 1968, was the largest since the surgeon general's warning on smoking hazards 10 years ago.

In the commission's statistical supplement to its annual report to Congress, it said cigarette sales for 1973 totaled $584.7 billion.

The biggest previous jump was in 1965, when sales rebounded by 3.2 per cent after nosediving in response to the Surgeon General's report in 1964.

The increase came despite the government effort to discourage smoking with the surgeon general's report, the warning label on cigarette packages, reproduction of the warning and tar and nicotine content in every cigarette advertisement and, in 1971, an outright ban on broadcast ads for cigarettes.

But, the report said, at least the government's actions have been accompanied by a switch to cigarettes with a relatively low content of tar.

The FTC figures showed that the market share of cigarettes with less than 15 milligrams of tar rose from 6.6 per cent in 1972 to 8.9 per cent in 1973.

Workers Walkout In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Assembly lines were down today at two International Harvester plants here and one in Urbana as an estimated 5,000 United Auto Workers union members remained off the job. Officials of UAW Local 402 said the walkout was unauthorized and urged strikers to return to work, but the company announced Tuesday that all employees participating in the action were being suspended for three days. Company and union representatives were scheduled to meet today to discuss the dispute, which apparently stemmed from dismissal of a shop steward and suspension of some 40 other employees. There were unconfirmed reports that officials from the company's headquarters in Chicago and union international officers planned to attend today's meeting. An employee spokesman said the steward was fired Monday for allegedly trying to organize a movement among workers in the Springfield assembly plant to refuse to work overtime. The 40 employees were suspended for three days after they refused to work following the dismissal, the union spokesman said. Company officials refused comment on the dispute.

Klein Gets An Apology From Nixon

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Former White House aide Herbert G. Klein has received a telephoned apology from former President Richard M. Nixon for derogatory comments Nixon made about him, the Baltimore Sun says. Klein, former White House director of communications, said Nixon called on Monday from San Clemente, Calif., to offer the apology, the Sun said in a story in today's editions. But the Sun quoted Klein as saying he would make no comment on what was discussed, "because I make it a point of never commenting on what was said in conversations with the former or new President." Nixon's derogatory remarks about the competency of his former aide were revealed in White House tape recordings made public Aug. 5. The transcript quoted Nixon as describing Klein, a Nixon supporter for 30 years, as "not having his head screwed on" "He just sort of blubbers around ... sits there with eggs on his face ... he's just not our guy at all." According to the Sun, Klein said Nixon opened Monday's conversation by saying: "Have you got your head screwed on today?" and then laughed. The Sun quoted Klein as saying the former chief executive apologized for any embarrassment he had caused, and then added that he had "probably said worse things about other people."

OHIO Clear and a little cooler tonight. Lows 55 to the low 60s. Partly cloudy with a chance of thundershowers Thursday. Highs from the upper 70s to mid 80s. NORTHWEST INLAND LAKE SHORE NORTHEAST INLAND Clear and cool tonight. Lows 55 to 60. Partly cloudy Thursday with a chance of afternoon thundershowers. Highs in the upper 70s and low 80s. CENTRAL EAST CENTRAL WEST CENTRAL Clear and a little cooler tonight. Lows in the upper 50s and low 60s. Partly cloudy Thursday with a chance of thundershowers. Highs in the low to mid 80s. SOUTHWEST SOUTHEAST Partly cloudy tonight. Lows 60 to 65. Partly cloudy Thursday with a chance of thundershowers. Highs in the low to mid 80s.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS An end to thunderstorms and showers early Wednesday brought drier and cooler air into Ohio. There were numerous patches of heavy fog after the thundershowers but the drier air cleaned most of them out by daylight. At dawn temperatures had fallen in upper 50s in the northwest and to the middle to lower 60s elsewhere. Dayton received the heaviest rainfall Tuesday night, 0.70 inches, while Columbus measured 0.13 inches. The morning weather map showed a large high pressure area centered over Lake Superior covering the Great Lakes and extending southward into the Ohio Valley. The high will move east in the next 24 hours, clearing skies and giving low probabilities of rain to most of the state. Temperatures will be on the rise again Thursday and the warming will again be accompanied by an increase in the probability of rain or thundershowers.

Oil Price Controls Are Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A four-month extension of the government's authority to control oil prices and allocate supplies has been approved by the Senate. The measure was adopted and sent to the House on Monday after Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., warned that fuel companies might hold supplies off the market in anticipation of higher prices if the law expired as scheduled on Feb. 28. The new bill would extend government controls until next June 30. Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, said American consumers would be hit with an additional fuel bill of $11 billion a year if oil price controls were removed and the cost per barrel was allowed to rise to $10.35, the current average for uncontrolled oil. Under the existing law, the price of 60 per cent of the nation's oil production is frozen at $5.25 a barrel. In a related development Monday, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said there is little chance for a significant drop in oil prices while tensions remain high between Israel

Maddox Leads Field Of 12 In Georgia Primary Race

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lester Maddox, the ex-Georgia governor who once made a brief try for the presidency, led a 12-man Democratic gubernatorial primary but failed to escape a runoff.

State Rep. George Busbee, 47, of Albany, appeared to have captured a Sept. 3 runoff spot by running second to Maddox with nearly 22 per cent of the vote as tabulations from Tuesday's primary election continued today.

The chance for Calhoun banker Bert Lance, 43, to make a second-place finish dimmed as he collected fewer than 17 per cent of the votes.

The 58-year-old Maddox, currently lieutenant governor, had 34.6 per cent of the votes—about 6 percentage points below what many observers felt he needed for a firm runoff foundation. He needed 50 per cent to win without a runoff.

Maddox, who briefly sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968, ran successfully for lieutenant governor in 1970 when the courts rejected his challenge to a state law that prevented him from succeeding himself.

In the five-man Republican gubernatorial primary, Macon Mayor Ronnie Thompson held a firm lead with 41 per cent of the votes. However, he appeared headed for a runoff with former state employe Harold Dye of Atlanta, who had nearly 25 per cent.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, 61, easily defeated Democratic primary challenger Carlton Myers, a Pine Mountain veterinarian.

Julian Bond, 34, Atlanta, the black state representative who received a vice presidential nomination at the 1968 national Democratic convention, overwhelmingly defeated black minister Charles Scott in a state Senate primary.

All but one of Georgia's 10 incumbent congressmen won re-nomination without serious threat.

In the 7th District, incumbent Democrat John Davis trailed Marietta physician Lawrence McDonald by seven percentage points.

CBMC To Meet

The Christian Businessmen's Committee will meet at 7 a.m. this Saturday at the Pickaway Arms Restaurant.

Speaking at the breakfast meeting will be John Albert, a student at the Circleville Bible College.

Hosea Williams, president of the Atlanta chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, won the Democratic nomination for a state House seat.

Beef Prices To Decrease Temporarily

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government farm experts say sharply lower corn yields will bring consumers a temporary easing of beef prices toward the end of this year.

But the experts also warn that the reduced corn crop, down 12 per cent from last year, will eventually translate into higher retail meat prices in 1975.

The drought in much of the Midwest, the prime reason for less feed next season, supposedly will force more cattle on to the market this fall because of rising production costs and dried up pastures.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz predicted on Tuesday that the reduced corn crop will mean "some curtailment" of cattle feeding and the sale of more cattle for slaughter later this fall.

Butz told newsmen, however, that recent rains in the Midwest will boost USDA corn estimates next month from the four-year low of 4.96 billion bushels estimated as of Aug. 1.

If the rains continue, they also could mean an improvement in parched grass conditions in the Great Plains and result in many cattle, which might otherwise go to market, being held in pastures later this year.

George Hoffman, a livestock economist in the department's Economic Research Service, told a reporter on Tuesday that cattle prices now are the highest since last winter.

Hoffman said that cattle prices lately have been around $47 per 100 pounds, roughly 30 per cent above the low levels last June of $35 or less.

Hoffman said the current cattle price is probably near the peak for the July-September quarter. And, if drought forces more cattle onto the market, the prices should go down in the fall.

Thus, according to USDA reasoning, as more cattle go to market later in the year, retail beef prices should ease a bit.

Kentuckian Drowns In Little Miami

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—A visiting Grayson, Ky., youth drowned in the Little Miami River after slipping down a steep bank Tuesday afternoon, according to Warren County Coroner Dr. Ralph Young.

Rescuers were unable to revive James Wilson, 11, police said.

Grange News

POMONA GRANGE

"We Belong To The Grange" was the program theme arranged by the lecturer Paul Dunkle, at the Summer meeting of Pomona Grange Friday. Frank Lands, the Master, a member of Washington Grange, presided. Randy Wolfe from Saltcreek Grange served as piano accompanist for all musical inclusions.

Of the seven Subordinate Granges in Pickaway County, Saltcreek had the lead representation.

Resolutions of respect for Elloise Dunkle were presented by an appointed committee. Ronald E. Chessar from Saltcreek Grange was received as a member of Pomona.

Hoyt Timmons voiced recognition of the days peaceful transition of National Affairs and said all should be proud to be an American.

A contribution was approved for the Volunteer Service Fund at State Hospital which provides opportunity for residents to attend State Fair.

For Youth Grange an announcement was made that Bonnie Bolender had been selected as Princess candidate for state convention and that an installation team was being readied for action.

Election resulted in the following being approved to serve in official capacity for 1974-76: Frank Lands, Hoyt Timmons, Paul Dunkle, Otha Lewis, Neal Wolfe, Barbara McKenzie, Nellie Bumgarner, Beatrice Bumgarner, Harold Furniss, David Bolender, Franciel Cromley, JoAnn Dawson, Dianne Lands.

The lecturer gave all present opportunity to cooperate in recall and review of the history, policies and procedures of Grange—the only rural family farm fraternity in the world. Lead inclusions were presented by Shirley Wolfe, Leona DeLong and Frank Lands.

Barbara Bolender and Randy Wolfe told of varied work and recreation experiences at Youth Grange Camp.

During the concluding social hour, refreshments were served by Star Grange, host for the session.

Decision Upcoming In Class Action Suit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge John Keefe said he will announce his decision Thursday morning in a class action suit against three Cincinnati banks demanding return of $16.3 million to 92,000 holders of auto loans.

Attorney James J. Condit charged that the Central Trust, Fifth Third and Provident banks charge more than the 8 per cent limit set by Ohio usury laws.

Auction Announced

There will be an auction at Airy Acres Campground, Route 5, 2:30 p.m. Saturday. All proceeds will go for a scholarship for the Circleville Bible College.

Investing Shared Revenue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of Ohio's tax dollars are making two trips to Washington and back and multiplying in the process.

The Ohio Public Expenditures Council pointed up this bit of irony in its publication "Tax Facts."

The council is a non-profit organization that does continuing research into Ohio's tax and spending problems.

About $2 billion of federal revenue sharing funds distributed to state and local governments, the council noted, are being invested in federal government securities and certificates of deposit.

Ohio is among states making such use of the funds.

"This means that the Treasury Department is collecting the tax money, sending it to states and local governments in the form of revenue sharing and then borrowing it back at high interest rates," the council said.

The state gets revenue sharing dollars apart from those that go to Ohio's counties, municipalities and townships. During the last fiscal year, the council said, the state of Ohio earned $10,124,787 in interest on a revenue sharing fund balance that stood at $148.4 million as of June 30, 1974.

Included in that total were about $60 million in federal revenue sharing trust funds that have been earning interest to pay off the state's obligations to joint vocational school districts throughout the state.

Next spring the money will be deposited into the general revenue fund to help meet the cost of a supplemental appropriations bill adopted by the legislature this July.

Ohio also has joined other states in using at least part of its revenue sharing dollars to try to ease the burden in its taxpayers. The supplemental appropriations bill totaling $124 million contained $10.8 million to replace revenues lost by increasing the exemption Ohioans can claim under the state income tax from $500 to $650 a year.

The council estimated that 18 states have used their funds for tax relief of some type. Sixteen others apparently used them to head off or postpone tax increases, the council said.

Ohio's legislature appropriated $91 million in revenue sharing funds for various projects during the period from Jan. 1, 1972, through June 30, 1973.

A major share of $41 million, including $37.8 million for vocational education, want for educational purposes, while the Department of Natural Resources received $18 million, the council noted.

12,000 Miners In Ohio To Be Idle

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — Some 12,000 United Mine Workers in Ohio and the West Virginia panhandle are expected to participate in a five-day nationwide work stoppage Aug. 19, a union official said.

UMW District 6 President John Guzek said the shutdown at 52 mines will begin at 12:01 a.m. Monday and end at 12:01 a.m. Aug. 24.

The shutdown is to commemorate the deaths of coal miners who were victims of black lung disease or mining accidents, according to UMW President Arnold Miller.

Guzek said the UMW contract provides for a 10-day memorial period at any union mine anytime during the duration of the three-year pact, with reasonable notice.

Monday's action will mark the third time in one month that District 6 miners have been idled.

A two-week walkout to protest the reinstatement of a supervisor was settled Monday when the last of 6,000 workers in 18 mines returned to work.

More than 2,000 miners participated in a one-day shutdown in July in a national protest over federal strip mine legislation.

Dean & Barry House Paint

makes your home look like a million

new Poly-Lin discovery keeps paint jobs looking much better longer

Poly-Lin is the wonderful new super-processed linseed oil that gives Dean & Barry house paint extra beauty, extra durability. And this means a scientifically improved house paint that fights off premature aging and dull-out, keeps its good looks far longer to save important dollars for you.

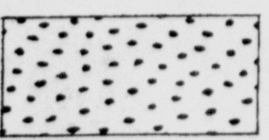

Here's Why: The structure of regular linseed oil used in conventional house paints is loose and open. It lacks the necessary strength to give maximum resistance to weather and wear. Not so with Poly-Lin. Here the linseed oil is super-processed to give it a tighter, stronger, tougher structure.

That's why Dean & Barry house paint makes your home look like a million and keeps it looking better far longer. Good news, too: There's no extra cost for the extra beauty and longer life Poly-Lin gives. Now available in a much wider range of new and modern colors. See for yourself soon—or ask your painter-decorator to come in.

Brudzinski Wears Seniors Crown

Steve Brudzinski played 36 holes of even-par golf to win medalist honors in the Southeastern Golf Association Seniors tournament at Pickaway Country Club Tuesday.

He had rounds of 35-36-71 and 34-37-71 for his 142 total, two strokes better than Athens Country Club golfer Art Smith.

Brudzinski, who carries a seven handicap, started the final round one stroke behind fellow PCC golfer Tom McGuire, who played the first 18 holes in 70 strokes. Smith started with a 73 and Dick Holzer of Lancaster, playing in the same foursome, started with a 71.

Brudzinski played the first nine Tuesday in 34 strokes, but Smith carded a blistering 33 to cut the lead to one stroke.

However, the 56-year-old local golfer stayed one stroke ahead of Smith to post the win. McGuire skied to a 78 for a 148 total and Holzer finished with a 75 for a 144.

George Fuhrman, a 63-year-old Pickaway golfer, snuck in with a 73-72-145 score, good for third place. Fuhrman, who carries a 10 handicap, had the best low net total with a 125 score.

Pickaway golfers easily sported the best six-man team in the tournament. Their 906 total topped second-place Athens (938), Hocking Hills (947), Chillicothe (953), and London (1013). Members of the winning team were Brudzinski, 142; Fuhrman, 145; McGuire, 148; Wink Wellington, 156; Gordy Fraser, 158; and Snap Ankrom, 160.

Veterans Pouring Into NFL Camps

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"There is no longer a strike," said Buffalo running back O.J. Simpson. "I hope they can get the negotiations over within the next two weeks."

Simpson's opinion seemed prevalent Tuesday as National Football League players continued to pour into training camps across the country. The players association strike officially entered its 46th day Wednesday but it was fast becoming a skeleton strike.

The majority of players entering camps under the Association's 14-day cooling off period, which is supposed to start today, gave no signs of wanting to walk out again in two weeks, regardless of the outcome of talks with owners scheduled to resume Thursday.

"Maybe one or two individuals would leave," admitted Simpson, "but we won't leave en masse. I wouldn't leave."

If the players' strike appeared to be crumbling, the association got some support from an unusual quarter when 12 members of the House of Representatives threatened owners with a thorough inspection of pro football's antitrust status if they don't deal fairly with the players.

Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., whose subcommittee on commerce has jurisdiction in antitrust matters, said in a letter to the NFL Management Council that he hopes owners will play fair in dealings with the players union.

"If they do not or if the union is significantly injured, we want it known we will undertake a complete review of the National Football League's antitrust status, and if the facts warrant, introduce appropriate legislation."

A Management Council spokesman, in New York where an owners' group was meeting, responded to Moss' letter. "We know that the record of these negotiations will show that we bargained in good faith," he said. "We will invite Congressman Moss or any others to examine the record."

Most veterans reported to camps without incident but there were exceptions in Fullerton, Calif., and Huntsville, Tex.

Twenty-two Los Angeles Ram veterans who showed up in Fullerton were greeted by General Manager Don Klosterman who had two questions for everyone—"Did you come of your own volition or because you were ordered to by the association? Do you plan to stay here?"

Klosterman said all 22 players, including player representative Tom Mack, said they had made their own decisions and would stay.

PCC Ladies Hosts Guests

Pickaway Country Club Ladies Golf Association entertained at a local guests day on their last ladies day.

Winners after nine holes of play were:

A Flight — Mary Carpenter, low gross; Lucille Wilson, low net; Phyllis Williams, low putts.

B Flight — Madeline Sanders, low gross; Clara Burton, low net; Dorothy Wardell, low putts.

C Flight — Betty Danford, low gross; Joan Fox, low net; Meg Sberna, low putts.

Guest flight winners were: Betty Young of Florida, low gross; Bonnie Russell, Lancaster, low net; Hazel Bowser, Lancaster, low putts.

Winners of the 18-hole event were: low gross, Jan McKelvey; second low gross, Mary Carpenter; low net, Lucille Wilson; second, Betty Young; low putts, Hazel Bowser; second, Marge Porter.

Palmer Hurls Orioles' Win

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Jim Palmer is alive and well, and suddenly the Baltimore Orioles' pennant chances in the tight American League East look a lot healthier.

Palmer, 28, returning to the starting rotation after spending 54 days on the disabled list with arm trouble, tossed six strong innings Tuesday night in pitching the Orioles to an 8-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

"I've got to be happy, he had good velocity," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver.

White Sox skipper Chuck Tanner was more than impressed by the performance of Palmer, last year's Cy Young Award winner.

"He threw free and easy," said Tanner, "and when he got in trouble he reached back and extended himself. This guy could be the difference in the division."

Elsewhere in the American League, Milwaukee tripped Texas 5-1, Kansas City defeated Detroit 6-2, Boston blanked California 3-0 and Oakland beat New York 6-1.

Cleveland and Minnesota were not scheduled.

Boog Powell made Palmer's job easier by belting a grand slam in the first inning.

"All I had to do was throw strikes," Palmer said. "There was no pressure on me at all ..." The Orioles scored seven runs in the first two innings.

Brewers 5, Rangers 1
Johnny Briggs' two-run single keyed a four-run eighth inning that carried the Brewers to victory.

Billy Champion, 7-2, pitched the first seven innings, scattering eight hits for the Brewers. Tom Murphy finished up.

Royals 6, Tigers 2
Amos Otis drove in two runs with a pair of sacrifice flies to pace the Royals attack.

Al Fitzmorris, 8-3, shut the Tigers out on four hits through seven innings, but gave up a two-run homer to Gary Sutherland in the eighth. After Al Kaline followed with a double, Steve Mingori came on in relief and preserved the victory.

Red Sox 3, Angels 0
Crafty Luis Tiant scuttled California on four hits for his 18th victory against eight losses, striking out five and walking four. Tiant joined Chicago's Wilbur Wood as the only 18-game winners in the major leagues.

It was Tiant's seventh triumph in his last eight decisions.

Boston scored two runs in the second. Tommy Harper singled home the final run in the eighth.

A's 6, Yankees 1
Oakland rallied for three runs in the sixth inning and three more in the seventh to beat the Yankees behind the seven-hit pitching of Ken Holtzman, 13-13.

Our Count Nips Roundtown At SD

Our Count, owned by Donald Jacobs, Mt. Sterling, and driven by Kurt Coil, nipped John Fissell's Roundtown by a length and a half in the ninth race at Scioto Downs Tuesday.

Our Count paid $6.20, $3.60, and $2.80 for the 2:11.3 mile pace. Roundtown, driven by Forrest Short, paid $4 and $3.80.

They combined for an $18.30 quinella.

CHS Boosters Meet Thursday

The first Circleville High School Athletic Booster club meeting for 1974-75 will be held at the high school cafeteria Thursday at 8 p.m.

Coaches will answer questions on the upcoming season. All Boosters are urged to attend this important meeting.

Rain Doesn't Stop High Power Shooters

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—Rain moved along Lake Erie too late to affect the National High-Power Rifle Championships here Tuesday, and three-time champion Ron Troyer of Williamsfield, Ohio, served notice he would be in contention again.

Ohio State Diver Leads AAU Meet

DECATUR, Ala. (AP) — Jim Stillson, 22, goes into the men's 10-meter platform preliminaries today after winning the prequalifying round at the National Amateur Athletics Union outdoor diving competition Tuesday.

Stillson, from Ohio State, scored 281.76, edging two Indiana State divers, Steve Byers and Tom Kenyon, at Point Mallard Aquatic Center here. Byers scored a 278.61, and Kenyon captured a 276.36.

MINOR LEAGUE ALL-STARS—The Circleville Little League All-Stars will play in Hilliard 8 p.m. Wednesday in hopes of continuing their tournament win streak. Members of the squad are, from the left, first row, Matt Albright, Willie Uhl, Anthony Thomas, Barry Sealock, Steve Wasmer, Tim Isaac, Peter DeFrank, and Chris Febes. In the second row are Tim Lane, Kelly Robinson, Vic Riffle, Tony Cooper, Coach Dan Campbell, Curt Spence, Freddie Styers, and Andy Dengler. Jeff Dolhaneyk is also a member of the squad.

Softball Tourney Set At Kingston

The Kingston Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament will be held at the Kingston Diamond Aug. 23, 24, and 25.

The sanctioned tournament is Class B only. Drawings will be held at 7 p.m., Aug. 21, in Chillicothe Park on Diamond 1.

Entry fee is $35 to be paid at time of the drawing.

Teams wanting more information should call Ronnie Arledge, Kingston, 642-3309.

Loretta Creed Wins Feature At Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—Driver Chalmer Day urged Loretta Creed from sixth at the top of the stretch to a driving finish to win the pace mile in the featured ninth race at Latonia Tuesday night by a length in 2:03.

The winner returned $11.80, $6.40 and $5. Green Land Jay placed, $6.20 and $3.80 and Rushing Time was third, $3.20.

Speedro Q combined 7-7 with Danas Frosty for $21 in the daily double and the crowd of 1,323 bet $89,985.

Pirates Destroy Reds, 14-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Sparky Anderson may put in for combat pay.

"When Al Oliver hit his homer to make it 12-2, I yelled out: 'Tell Danny Murtaugh we surrender,'" the Cincinnati Manager noted with chagrin Tuesday night.

But the Pirates didn't stop the heavy artillery. They continued shelling the Reds and went on to a 14-3 rout on 21 hits.

"That was just good, old-fashioned country hardball," Anderson said. "The ball hit hardest all night was a single to center by Willie Stargell. If that would have hit concrete, it would have moved it three feet."

But Stargell wasn't the only Red-killer. Richie Zisk drove in a run for the 10th straight game, and Al Oliver drove in five.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros stopped the Chicago Cubs 3-1; the Atlanta Braves stopped the Montreal Expos 4-3; the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the San Francisco Giants 6-5; the New York Mets turned back the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 and the San Diego Padres beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1.

The victory pushed Pittsburgh over the .500 mark for the first time this season and gave them eight victories in their last nine games and 22 in their last 31.

Zisk and Ed Kirkpatrick each drove in two runs during a five-run Pittsburgh first inning and the Pirates kept punishing the Reds' pitching staff.

Astros 3, Cubs 1
Cesar Cedeno's leadoff triple sparked a two-run ninth inning that carried Houston over Chicago. Milt May followed Cedeno's triple with a single to snap a 1-1 tie.

Braves 4, Expos 3
Dusty Baker belted his 14th home run of the year and an RBI single that highlighted a three-run fourth inning, leading Atlanta over Montreal for the Braves' fifth straight win.

Atlanta's Ron Reed, 8-6, scattered eight hits for the victory.

Phillies 6, Giants 5
Mike Schmidt ripped a pair of towering home runs and drove in three runs, leading Philadelphia past San Francisco.

Schmidt hit a two-run homer in the first inning and a solo shot in the third, his 27th, as the Phillies built a 6-1 lead against San Francisco starter Jim Barr.

WHEELCHAIR CHAMP—Roy Nungester, Route 2, Laurelville, won six first place plaques and one second place medal at the Toledo Jaycee second annual Wheelchair Field and Track Games last weekend. He took first in the shotput, javelin, precision javelin, discus, weightlifting, and bowling. His second was in billiards. Behind Nungester are several of the plaques he won.

Brown Wants No Discussion Of Strike Among Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals, said he wants no strike discussions — particularly "no arguments" between non-strikers and returning veterans.

Player representative Pat Matson announced he would head the group of 18 striking veterans as they reported to camp today at 11 a.m.

The striking National Football League Players Association voted to end their strike for two weeks in an attempt to resolve differences with the owners.

Brown said he had had a "nice conversation" by telephone Tuesday with Matson and would meet with the returnees as a group only once.

"I told him we won't have a two-unit football team, that when they come in, they come to play."

Matson assured Brown that the players planned exactly that, that things would be as they had before. The players had promised no animosity against those who crossed the picket lines.

Meanwhile Brown remained undecided on whether any of the returning vets will play Saturday at Atlanta against the Falcons or even if any of them will make the trip.

Physicals are planned today with workouts scheduled Thursday. Friday light workouts are planned for Saturday's game. Brown said he might schedule heavy sessions for Sunday.

If any vets make the trip Saturday, they will appear "on the special teams or something," Brown said.

Turning to the negotiations, Brown said the return of the strikers for a cooling off period "makes not one bit of difference in the union-owners negotiations."

"The issues are going to be judged in terms of what we can stand," Brown said. The players returning is "not doing anything now they couldn't have done a month ago. The thinking of our negotiating team won't change one iota," he vowed.

Brown also predicted the owners would not sign a twoyear agreement. It must be longer.

"The sport can't stand the convulsion of going through a thing like this every two years."

Potvin Wins Calder

MONTREAL (AP) — Rookie defenseman Dennis Potvin of the New York Islanders of the National Hockey League has won the Calder Memorial Trophy. The cup is awarded annually to the player chosen as most proficient in his first NHL season. Potvin set two records for a defenseman by getting 17 goals and totaling 54 points for the Islanders.

Time-wise, Little Current ran the best race of his 12-race career when he won the Preakness. He had a 97 speed rating. His highest previous speed racing was an 89.

Birmingham Seeks 6th Straight Win

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The Birmingham Americans, the World Football League's only unbeaten team, hope to fatten up on the injury-riddled Hawaiians tonight before an expected turnout of 45,000 fans in Birmingham.

Coach Jake Gotta's Americans lead the league in offense but are last in defense. They have won all five games they've played but just barely, averaging only eight points a game more and 15 yards a game less than their opponents.

Birmingham kept its perfect record intact last week with a 28-22 victory over Detroit on the strength of a touchdown pass from rookie Matt Reed to Alfred Jenkins in the final 30 seconds.

The Hawaiians, 1-4, dropped a 21-14 decision to Jacksonville last week and lost several players along the way with injuries, including wide receiver Jerry Powell and offensive guard Jim Cadile.

"We really took a beating," said Coach Mike Giddings.

Philadelphia visits Chicago, Jacksonville is at Florida, New York hosts Portland and Detroit entertains Memphis in tonight's other WFL action.

Southern California is at Houston in Thursday night's television game.

The Chicago-Philadelphia game features a matchup of top quarterbacks. Virgil Carter of the Fire has thrown for 11 touchdowns and King Corcoran of the Bell has hit 10, four of them in a 45-21 triumph over Memphis last week.

Chicago is averaging 29 points a game and Philadelphia about 24.

Florida, leading the Eastern Division with four wins in five tries, boasts a one-two punch of veteran quarterback Bob Davis and rookie running back Richard James. Davis hit 10 of 17 tosses for 135 yards and James rushed for 100 yards last week in a 46-21 victory over Chicago.

Jacksonville, 2-3, will go with Reggie Oliver or Kay Stephenson at quarterback in place of the injured Eddie McAshan.

Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins is seeking his fourth American League batting title. He was leading the league in mid-May.

Fergy Jenkins of the Texas Rangers and Catfish Hunter of the Oakland As were the first American League pitchers to win six games this spring.

Ron Turcotte failed to win the Belmont Stakes in his first three attempts but then won with Riva Ridge in 1972 and Secretariat in 1974.

Three firsts and a second in five events Tuesday gave Seagren a two-day total of 47 points and $4,700 and clinched the $10,000 top prize in the qualifier. The three other qualifying positions remained unsettled, however.

Mets 3, Dodgers 0

Left-hander Jon Matlack tossed a four-hitter and Jerry Grote's first home run in three months helped New York over Los Angeles.

Matlack, 11-9, struck out eight and walked none in recording his fifth shutout of the season.

Padres 2, Cardinals 1

Dave Winfield knocked in two runs with a single and double, leading San Diego over St. Louis. San Diego's Lowell Palmer, 2-4, called on to replace injured starter Vicente Romo with two out in the first inning, halted the Cardinals on six hits, including Reggie Smith's 16th home run.

Trevino Eyes Victory In Davis Open

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Lee Trevino, a notorious streak player, goes after a second consecutive victory this week in the Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open Golf Tournament.

The flamboyant Trevino, winner of the PGA National Championship last Sunday in Clemmons, N.C., heads a strong field arrayed for the Thursday start of this $200,000 event that offers a $40,000 first prize.

"There's no reason I ought to have a let-down," Trevino said. "I've always been a streak player. When I get it going good, I usually keep it going for a while."

Last season he won twice—both within a three-week span. And, of course, in 1971 he achieved that unmatched, one-month sweep of the American, Canadian and British Opens.

"Besides," Trevino continued, "I usually play real good here."

Again, the record book supports him. He won this tournament in 1972 and tied for third last year.

And, while he's fresh off a victory in a major championship, he's taking a dead-serious approach to this tournament.

He made a hasty departure from North Carolina, got to the Wethersfield Country Club and practiced Monday and Tuesday.

His principal opposition in the 144-man field includes South African Gary Player, defending champion Billy Casper and Hubert Green.

Casper discounts himself. Player and Green are playing extremely well. Player has won the Masters, British Open and another American tournament, collected more than $100,000 in prize-winnings and is enjoying the best season of his globetrotting career.

Bob Seagren Dominates Superstars

ROTONDA, Fla. (AP) — Pole vaulter Bob Seagren's domination of a 13-man Superstars qualifying field has made him $14,700 richer and guaranteed him a spot in February's $122,000 Superstars finals.

And Seagren, who won the initial Superstars event in 1973, is entered in both of today's final qualifying events with a chance to earn more money at $100 a point.

Three firsts and a second in five events Tuesday gave Seagren a two-day total of 47 points and $4,700 and clinched the $10,000 top prize in the qualifier. The three other qualifying positions remained unsettled, however.

Seagren faces hockey's Yvan Cournoyer and Dave Schultz, hurdler Rod Milburn, speed skater Ard Schenk, basketball's Jim McMillian and pole vaulter Steve Smith in weight lifting. He's up against Smith, basketball's Bill Bradley and John Havlicek, Schultz, hockey's Rod Gilbert and middle-distance runner Dave Wottle in swimming.

Schenk has 23 points, Smith 21, McMillian 20, Havlicek 18, Wottle 12, Cournoyer and basketball's Pete Maravich 10, Gilbert 8, Milburn 7, Bradley and Grand Prix driver James Hunt 6, and Schultz 4.

Seagren won Tuesday's 100-yard dash in 10.65 seconds, the half mile run in 2:11.56 and the obstacle course in 23.97. He was second to Schenk in the onemile bicycle race as Schenk finished in 2:47.56 to Seagren's 2:48.89.

Cournoyer won Tuesday's baseball hitting with 15 hits.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A day in which to stress your self-confidence, show what you can do. A unique idea, coupled with plans for carrying it out, will impress superiors.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a fair chance. Be steadfast. Nothing has changed since activities were initiated.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): New trends, a desired development or something equally stimulating should start your day off happily — and keep it so.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Certain situations may disturb during the a.m. — especially since you can't seem to put your finger on the cause. Try to get a little privacy and THINK! The answer will come — seemingly from "nowhere."

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may not find it easy to get into your usual stride now, but when you spot an unusual opportunity for making gains (which you will) you'll get moving — and fast!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Watch finances, but don't become overly anxious about them. Just make up your mind to pursue a conservative and realistic course.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Look deeply into all situations. Surface appearances could be misleading. Using that innate foresight of yours, however, you shouldn't have much trouble in spotting flaws.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Planetary influences now give slow-moving projects new momentum, indicate better results than even you may have anticipated. Get going!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Don't cross the proverbial bridges before you come to them, but be ready for any eventuality before it occurs. Your innate good judgment will be a big help here.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Stellar influences fairly favorable, but you may need further information on activities in which you are presently engaged. Seek it without delay.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): An excellent opportunity here to show your adaptability and your gift for thinking and acting quickly at a given time. This splendid asset could greatly enhance your prestige now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be alert to good offerings. Your aptitude lends itself to this type of day. Study, diversify your interests, broaden your mental horizons.

YOU BORN TODAY have a vibrant, outgoing attitude toward life. You are extremely energetic and would make an excellent executive or business manager once you learn to control a tendency toward arrogance with those under your supervision. You have a great love of the arts and could excel in almost any one of them if properly trained — but, perhaps, more spectacularly in music, writing or the theater. A born leader, you could also succeed in statesmanship or in the military. Birthdate of: Napoleon Bonaparte, Emperor of France; Sir Walter Scott, novelist.

Daddy's Baby Wins At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Daddy's Baby moved from fifth position at the top of the stretch to win the featured race at Scioto Downs by a nose Tuesday night.

Touring the mile in 2:07 1-5 on a sloppy track, the winner paid $11, $10 and $4.40. Shadow Bud returned $12.40 and $7.40 for second and Another Special, $4 for show. The 2-1 daily double combination of College Man and Treasure Cove was worth $15.20.

The quinella payoffs were 3-5 for $8.10 in the fourth race, 1-2 for $55.20 in the seventh and 1-5 for $18.30 in the ninth.

A crowd of 4,775 wagered $223,512.

Weather Postpones Yacht Race

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The third race in the Lightning Class North American Championships was wiped out by threatening weather on Lake Erie late Tuesday.

An attempt was to be made to complete the five-race series today.

John Chapman is the sixth driver in harness racing to win 3,000 races.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Question: How much of a factor was national TV coverage of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment debates in eroding what remained of former President Nixon's support in Congress?

The answer, says Elmer Lower, president of ABC News, is that it had no great effect in making the thinning ranks of Nixon backers in Congress even thinner.

When Nixon resigned, he noted he no longer had "a strong enough political base in the Congress" to justify fighting to continue his term.

But Lower, asked if he felt the live TV coverage of impeachment debate led to that loss of support, said, "No, even without television he'd be out of office today."

"I really think what brought everything to a head so quickly were the final three tapes and the Supreme Court decision which brought them out."

The tapes showed that six days after the 1972 Watergate break-in, the former President authorized an effort to steer the FBI away from investigating the full scope of the break-in.

Had Nixon not resigned, impeachment debate by the full House would have begun next week and run at least three days, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There were initial fears that rules for live TV coverage would create problems of journalistic independence for the networks, particularly one informal proposal to restrict the TV view to the Speaker's rostrum and two tables.

But Lower, who with his NBC and CBS counterparts met with House Speaker Carl Albert and special four-member House committee to discuss TV coverage rules, said the fears proved groundless.

"The rules they showed us were something we could have lived with," he said. "For example, they didn't prohibit us from panning" — traversing the TV camera — "around the room or showing the galleries."

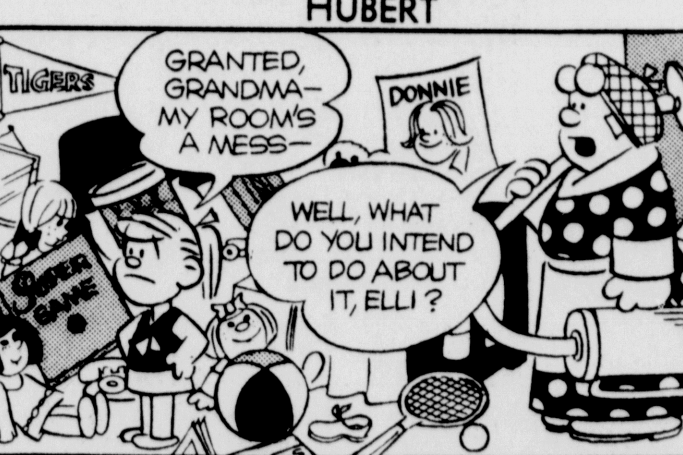

"And after the meeting, even when they knew we were just talking about an academic question, they said, 'We think we can work with you in the future on something when important legislation is before the House or a committee.'"

"They see this as a way for them to communicate with their constituents. They all told us, 'You may have broken some ground here.'"

Lower, 61, has headed ABC News since 1963. He is moving out of that job and into a new one next month as vice-president for corporate affairs at the network's parent company, American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.

CHS Band Practices 'Music Power' Program

DRUM CLINIC—Paul Zubrod, instructor from Otterbein College, is working with the Tiger drum section at the CHS band camp. The section is working on the band's featured number for the 1974-75 "Music Power" performances.

SOUND THE BRASS—Jim Kibby, band director at Westfall High School, works with the upper brass section of the Circleville High School Band during band camp. Each section has its own clinic rehearsal in the morning with the afternoon used for marching and dance routines.

The Circleville High School Tiger Band is in full step during the first annual "camp at home" conditioning program.

The band is preparing for the fall season of "Music Power" performances including half-time shows, special guest appearances and the contest of champions.

Under the direction of Gary Dean, Candace Rigo and Paula Woodward, staff members of the CHS Music Department, the camp provides specialized assistance to bandmen in the different areas of the band.

Special instructors are: Paul Zubrod, Jim Kibby, Jim Salyer, Dave Winner, Tom Spring, John Dowler, Sue Elliott, Patty Van Buskirk and Rick Gammage.

Paul Zubrod is the percussion teacher from Otterbein College. Zubrod has professional experience working with the Columbus Symphony Orchestra and has played in back up bands for such performers as Sonny and Cher, Leslie Uggams and Frankie Laine.

Teaching upper brass is Jim Kibby. The band director at Westfall High School, Kibby has playing experience in the Ohio State University Band as well as solo trumpet performance with the European Musical Tour.

Jim Salyer, teaching lower brass and baritone, is a graduate of CHS and has two years marching experience with the OSU marching band.

Another CHS grad, Dave Winner is teaching lower brass and trombones. Winner has been a member of Ohio University's Marching Men of Ohio for the past two years.

Tom Spring, CHS graduate, is heading the sousaphone section. Spring has been a member of the Ohio Northern University Concert Band.

Assisting with woodwinds and special routines for flag corps is John Dowler. A 1974 grad of CHS, Dowler is working as special effects man for the Tigerettes as well as general work with the woodwind section.

Sue Elliott, a coordinator of baton styles as well as special majorette routines, will be working with the majorettes.

Patty Van Buskirk, is heading the tigerette choreography. Her dance experience will help polish special newly learned corps routines in addition to special drill corps effects.

Rick Gammage, 1974-75 Ohio State

B-52s Get New Nuclear Weapons

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AIR FORCE BASE, Ohio (AP) — The 12th Bombardment Wing's big B-52 bombers sported new nuclear weapons today — SRAM air-to-ground missiles slated to ride the Air Force's supersonic B-1 bombers of the future.

The Dayton-based wing became the 12th Strategic Air Command unit to get the Short Range Attack Missile, two-thirds through production of the 1,500 SRAM missiles on order.

"SRAM provides our B-52 strategic bomber fleet with a new capability, that is a highly accurate air-to-ground missile able to attack heavily defended targets," said Col. Henry W. Boardman, the wing commander.

"We feel it is an extremely important part of our nation's strategic arsenal."

SRAM is 14 feet long, 18 inches in diameter and weighs 2,230 pounds. A B-52 can carry up to 20 SRAM's in wing pylons and a rotary launcher installed in the bomb bay.

The nuclear-tipped missile is powered by a two-pulse rocket motor using solid-propellant fuel, flying at either supersonic or subsonic speeds.

It is able to change course after launch and can be released as much as 1,000 miles from target. The exact range of the missile is secret. The missile has an inertial guidance system.

It is designed to be carried by the B-52, the FB-111 and the B-1, which still is in development.

The Air Force has tested the SRAM for two years at White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico and SAC is doing operational test flying.

July Report Shows 1,677 Titles Filed

The July report for the clerk of courts' office showed a total of 1,677 titles filed and a total of $7,403.77 turned in to the county's general fund for the month. Clerk Sara M. Dresbach released the report showing figures for both the legal department and the title department of the common pleas court.

Title department business included filing 649 liens and cancelling 525 liens. The office also issued 59 boat and motor titles, filed 71 inspection affidavits on foreign titles and registered 276 new vehicles. A total of $605 in penalty fees for not filing titles within 20 days was collected.

Dealers sales tax collected amounted to $64,951.17 and casual and use tax collected totaled $9,632.78. The total sum collected from the title department and turned into the county general fund was $4,288.62.

A total of $65,934.01 was collected by the bureau of support in support and alimony payments.

The clerk's office issued six passports, filed three notary public commissions, issued two duplicate fishing licenses and filed 56 new civil and 15 new criminal cases.

A total of $73,465.02 was collected by the legal department in July, $3,115.14 of that amount will be turned into the county general fund.

Harsha Urges Reduction For Mass Transit Funds

Claiming the $20 billion authorization for mass transit is "a surefire way to transport the economy into mass inflation", Congressman William H. Harsha urged the mass transit spending levels considered in the House today be cut to $11 billion.

In the House debate on the 1974 Federal Mass Transportation Act, the Ohio lawmaker argued that while the bill offered a satisfactory means of attaining both urban and rural transit goals, it failed in the overriding priority of money.

"We have 'double digit' inflation now and are likely to be faced with it for quite some time," he explained. "The principle reason for our terrible economic predicament is uncontrolled government spending, and the only way we are going to escape total economic disaster is to reduce that spending."

"Although mass transit can help alleviate our problems of traffic congestion, pollution and energy consumption," he continued, "it will do us no good if our economy collapses under the burden of excessive and unrealistic government spending."

Harsha, the ranking minority member of the House Public Works Committee, pointed out that combined with mass transit provisions in existing legislation, there would be a monumental $25 billion available in mass transit funds over the next six years. He cited two provisions in the 1973 Federal-Aid Highway Amendments: one which would allow the transfer of Interstate System money amounting to about $2 billion in urban

Youths Return Roll Of Wire

Two 13-year-old Circleville youths have returned a roll of wire they allegedly took from the construction site of the Circleville Metal Works plant, 301 Logan St.

Walter Dean, 568 Oakland Terrace, owner of the plant, told police he had become increasingly concerned with the amount of construction material looted from the plant.

During a stake-out 7:45 p.m. Monday, Dean nabbed the two boys with a large box of conduit connectors they allegedly stashed in the rear of the building under a piece of tin.

The youths had reportedly attempted to sell a spool of wire to one of the contractors working on the project.
